THE TRUTH COMPANY

better biz me |
our process and your people

1. Discover the truth about your workplace.
2. Collaboratively report on the findings.
3. Evaluate different solutions together.
4. Freely pilot – for three months – your solution of choice.
5. Continue the journey for as long as you choose.

better biz me | our process and your people

1. Discover the truth about your workplace.
  - You tell us the colleagues who want to take part.
  - We interview them gently, warmly, and individually – not in a group – so that they feel free to tell us the journey they value most.
  - Everyone encourages everyone to say where most of their pain lies.
  - This process will last for no more than one of your working weeks.

2. Collaboratively report on the findings.
  - Together, your nominated colleagues and our truth consultants build up a picture of your most immediate needs.
  - Together, we report on those needs: nothing is sent on until everyone feels comfortable.
  - We suggest, once the report is in the hands of everyone, whatever their position, that one working day be spent collaboratively, evaluating the findings.

3. Evaluate different solutions together.
  - Better Biz Me consultants will now liaise with our researchers and our - or your - technologists.
  - The report itself, the feedback on the back of it, and any other observations, are communicated and respectfully shared with all the teams and interested parties.
  - Up to three made-to-measure solutions are proposed.

4. Freely pilot – for three months – your solution of choice.
  - Once a solution – or an amalgam of two or even three – is chosen, we will develop it together.
  - It may only involve tweaking your manual processes and procedures.
  - It may involve a simple utility which resolves a massive headache.
  - It may be more complex, and involve long-term development timelines.
  - How it looks is your choice: you are always in control.
  - Once we have your solution of choice ready, you have three months to pilot and trial in a workplace we all agree to.
  - For free. Guaranteed.
  - And no obligation to buy.

5. Continue the journey for as long as you choose.
  - Any time you want, for any reason you care – you never have to tell us why – you will have the choice of:
    - continuing in the same way;
    - continuing in a new way;
    - or walking away completely from everything we've been doing together.

better biz me | our process and your people

The thing is, at Better Biz Me we're so confident everything we do becomes an asset for our clients, that we have chosen to offer you this three-part tool to make it easier for you to remain satisfied with everything we do together:

This is what we say. And we're going to say it again.

At any time in our relationship, you choose. You choose to:

1. Continue in the same way.
2. Continue in a new way.
3. Walk away from everything, no questions asked.
